

LME Private Investor Licence

Guidance and Frequently Asked Questions

1 Introduction

The LME introduced a new market data Private Investor licence as of 4 October 2021.

2 Private Investor licensing

The Private Investor Distribution licence includes the distribution of Real Time, Level 2 LME Data to Private Individuals via a display application.

For the avoidance of doubt, the Private Investor Distribution licence does not apply to LBMA PGM data.

For further information regarding LME Market Data policies, please visit <https://www.lme.com/en-GB/Market-Data/Market-data-licensing> or contact market.data@lme.com.

3 Application

Application for a Private Investor Distribution licence is via the LME Online Licensing Portal, which is accessible from 4 October 2021 here: <https://datalicensing.lme.com>. The application process is simple and requires the following information to be submitted:

- Details of the Licensee, and any affiliated entities to be covered under the agreement;
- Details on data access;
- Verification of trading access to LME;
- The criteria used by the licensee to verify the Private Investor status.

Following submission of your application, if sufficient information has been provided, the LME will approve your application, or return it for further information to be provided. At this point, the licence will be executed by the parties, either electronically or in hard copy and subsequently uploaded to the LME Online Licensing Portal.

4 Licensee eligibility

The Licensee must be able to evidence a trading relationship with an LME member and provide contact details for the Member's Relationship Manager.

5 Private Investor eligibility

To qualify as a 'Private Investor', the customer must either be:

1. A natural person who:
 - a) is not accessing, publishing or distributing the LME Data in the course of a trade, business, profession or other commercial activity;
 - b) is not acting as a principal, officer, partner, employee or agent of any business (excluding an entity meeting the requirements of paragraph 2 below) nor on behalf of any other natural person;

- c) is using the [LME Data] exclusively for their private purposes (which may include the management of their own private assets but shall exclude the management of any client assets);
 - d) is not currently acting in any capacity as an investment adviser and / or professional trader on the LME, whether or not they have at some time been qualified to do so; or
2. an entity which is solely owned by a natural person (who meets the requirement of paragraph 1) and the entity's only purpose is to facilitate the management of such natural person's private assets.

Licensees will need to verify the Private Investor status of clients, and keep and maintain these verifications which may be requested for review during an LME audit.

As part of the pilot launch, distribution under the Private Investor Distribution licence is permitted to Private Investors within the following jurisdictions only:

- China
- China Taiwan
- Hong Kong
- Singapore
- South Korea

6 Reporting

Monthly reporting is required under the Private Investor Distribution licence, submitted via the LME Reporting Portal. Upon execution of the licence, Licensees will be provided with login credentials and a reporting guide to assist with the reporting.

Reporting must be submitted by the 15th of the month following the end of each calendar month. For example, reporting for October 2021 must be submitted by 15 November 2021.

Reporting must be submitted using the fields and reporting codes in the Market Data Licence Agreement – Private Investor Distribution.
